Shadows of December: Illusions of Time, the space-time fantasy fiction of new author MA Senft, illustrates the devastating ramifications that our decisions can have on the future of life as we know it on earth through the fantasy of time and dimensional travel.

At a time when the future of our planet feels to hang in the balance, this brand new book touches on the issues of the day questioning our ethics and morality, spirituality and the weight of our daily choices told through the eyes of a self-centered teenager who learns that his life decisions greatly impact the future of humanity.

Jay, a 14-year-old boy living in the small sleepy town of Lake Itasca, Minnesota finds himself face-to-face with the fate of the earth when an angel arrives and takes him on a journey through time and space to a future he never could have imagined, upending his self-absorbed unscrupulous life.

Based on real science questions of today, such as global warming, gene splicing, new ways of finding power and the politics that surround all of them, Jay is forced to reevaluate what is important while journeying through space and realities never imagined.

Shadows of December: Illusions of Time is an engrossing and entertaining read with global themes and significance that is ideal for both adolescents and adults

About MA Senft

MA Senft is a grandmother known to her family as an incredible cook but she is a fresh new author with stories and ideas ready to spill out onto the page. This book was a labor of love with every character a nod to her children and grandchildren in a tale she has been telling and retelling in various forms to them as a bedtime story since her grandchildren were quite small. MA Senft was inspired to put the tale into print form as a lasting memoir for her family by her oldest grandchild and namesake for her main character, Jay. Randy, M.A.'s brother, encouraged her to release her book to the public. He was captivated with the tale and insisted it should be shared. In his honor the book is dedicated.
